

Wrench for twisting radiators

APPLICATION METHOD:

The installation of heating radiators is almost always accompanied by the selection of the number of sections for a separate heating point. For convenient installation and cost savings, it is possible to select the required number of sections for the radiator. With the help of a key for twisting radiators, it is possible to choose exactly the number of radiators that is necessary for heating.

The length of the key is 1000 mm

